

The Integrity of British Culture & Faith Must be Conserved

The Covenant Nations – a Natural Union

The proof that Britain does not need the politically contrived European Union is revealed by history and is truly in plain sight for even the youngest student. The anti-British brigade is now stepping up its claim that Britain would be out in the cold and could not survive if we did indeed leave the EU. Fear is their stock-in-trade; but as was said by President Franklin D Roosevelt in his 1933 inauguration Address: “The only thing we have to fear, is fear itself.”

Indeed, the propaganda of fear coming from the pro-European Union camp prompts an obvious question: how did Britain build the greatest trading empire the world had ever seen, industrialise much of the Third World and survive two world wars – started by Germany – without belonging to this Continental, unelected, unaccountable and increasing European dictatorship?

It is utterly amazing that a nation with Great Britain’s history, should have succumbed to the grand strategy of the political élite to disinherit an entire nation from its sovereign Birthright. This happened on 22 January, 1972, when Britain signed the EEC Treaty of Accession bringing the United Kingdom under the constraints of the Treaty of Rome 1957; the seat of all our problems with the EU.

There was a significant build-up to this – coming precisely nine years to the day earlier – that should have fully alerted the Foreign Office as to the dangers of what was happening. On 22 January, 1963, just eight days after President de Gaulle of France gave a magisterial Paris press conference in which he rejected British Prime Minister Macmillan’s application to join the EEC, de Gaulle and Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany signed the Franco-German Treaty of the Elysée. This was a bi-lateral treaty between France and Germany – and still is – outside and independent of the then six-year-old EEC. The ‘text’ of the Treaty is quite short and begins with a Joint Declaration, the key part of which is most revealing stating that “a reinforcing of cooperation between the two countries an indispensable stage on the way to a united Europe . . .”

Paragraph 5 of the chapter on Foreign Affairs states that the two Governments “will study jointly the means of reinforcing their cooperation” listing really significant areas. When it comes to the last chapter headed ‘Final Arrangements,’ it states that “The two governments will keep member-governments of the European Communities informed of the development of Franco-German cooperation.” In so many words: “we’ll decide and tell you afterwards.” (acknowledgements to: Global Britain Briefing Note, No. 106, 4 September, 2015).

Never before in our History

Those who have a clear memory of what went on to get us embroiled with the European Union know that a cloak of deception accompanied by the propaganda of fear became very apparent: “We must be part of a bigger trading block in order to survive,” they said. All the while they kept the people in the dark about the real agenda which was to break-up and destroy the economic supremacy and free trade of the Anglo-Saxon world.

Why would we naturally give up on our sources of cheaper food in the Commonwealth and, most significantly, why would we put history into reverse by undermining our centuries-long Protestant Christian constitution and English Common Law by surrendering to a Roman Catholic dominated Europe with its alien system of Roman Civil Law? It was utter madness, but such was the decline in our faith and understanding of who we are, as a people, that surrender we did.

The aim of internationalist secularism was the overthrow of British World Order. The peaceful prosperous union of the family of covenant nations was to be replaced by a pagan European super-state; an oligarchy has been reaching for an ultimate One World where it can phase out the sovereignty of the very nations that formed the foundation of peaceful civilization. This has been achieved in great measure through a process of stealth and subterfuge, which can only be described as a slow coup d'etat – as the late Tony Benn once said of the whole destructive process.

Never before in the 750-year-old history of Parliament at Westminster have we signed away to alien bodies the authority to govern us and make binding laws affecting our sovereignty as we have done to the European Union. The 'project' in Europe has not been international, but supranational with the openly admitted agenda in Europe to create a federal United States of Europe.

In previous times this great deception would have been exposed very clearly as an act of betrayal and even treason against the State, invoking the capital penalty for those involved. Now, after all the exposures in recent years of moral corruption and financial fraud in our national life, we need be in no doubt that the corridors of power over the past half century have been working against the integrity of British culture and faith and the natural union of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Flag of the modern Commonwealth of Nations

Crispen Blunt MP, chair of the Foreign Affairs Committee at Westminster, says that “there is no right answer” to Britain remaining in or leaving the European Union. We beg to differ; Britain’s coming ‘Exodus’ from the EU will restore our Birthright inheritance setting us free from bondage. There is a far deeper prophetic knowledge required if we are to protect and preserve British traditional culture, faith and values.

The Special Relationship

As the United Kingdom at long last re-evaluates the course of its membership of the European Union a new 'wind of change' is beginning to blow through the centre of our national body-politic. After 40 years of 'ever closer union' in Europe with all the accompanying bondage of suffocating bureaucracy coming from Brussels, the British people are reviving and once more looking to the wider world.

The People of the British Isles are a global trading power still and must return fully to this historic role with great determination. Sir Winston Churchill was absolutely right when he said that "If Britain must choose between Europe and the open sea, she must always choose the open sea."

Since the pioneering halcyon days of Empire and Colonial rule, revolution and terror have swept the world slaughtering millions leaving vast areas in ruins where disease and famine now rule. The world is at last changing where the oppressed inhabitants of these former prosperous lands are looking back on the days of Colonial rule as something that they would like to see restored.

The foundation of this new awakening from sleep during the intense period of what is defined in the biblical prophets as 'Jacob's trouble,' will undoubtedly be build upon the Special Relationship that the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland has with the United States of America. Without exaggeration this is a phrase used to describe what has proved to be the greatest factor in bringing about the full potential of the Kingdom of God upon earth.

It is the name given to the close Anglo-American military, political and trading alliances that have been evident throughout most of the 20th century and continue into the present century. The overlapping language and culture and the large amount of immigration into the USA from the British Isles are other factors that go a long way towards explaining this relationship.

Although the special relationship between the United Kingdom and the United States was most famously emphasized by British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, its existence had been recognized since the 19th century, not least by rival powers. It was used by Churchill on 16 February, 1944, when he said it was his "deepest conviction that unless Britain and the United States are joined in a special relationship ... another destructive war will come to pass."

He used it again in 1945 to describe not the Anglo-American relationship alone, but the United Kingdom's relationship with both the United States and Canada. The New York Times Herald quoted Churchill in November 1945: "We should not abandon our special relationship with the United States and Canada about the atomic bomb and we should aid the United States to guard this weapon as a sacred trust for the maintenance of peace."

Churchill's mother was American, and he felt very keenly the links between the English-speaking peoples. He had also been acquainted with the Kingdom truth by Admiral 'Jackie' Fisher in 1915 during the First World War, after the disastrous naval operations in the Dardanelles Campaign. One day, upon finding Churchill extremely depressed over the great losses, it is related that Fisher encouraged him by saying, "cheer up, man, don't you know we are the Ten Tribes?"

Winston Churchill famously used the term ‘special relationship’ again, in his Sinews of Peace Address at Westminster College, Fulton, Missouri, on 5 March, 1946 (more commonly called the Iron Curtain speech) when he stated: “I come to the crux of what I have travelled here to say. Neither the sure prevention of war, nor the continuous rise of world organization will be gained without what I have called the fraternal association of the English-speaking peoples. This means a special relationship between the British Commonwealth and Empire and the United States.”

Although the Special Relationship is a phrase used to describe the exceptionally close political, diplomatic, cultural, economic, military and historical relations between the United Kingdom and the United States, both great nations have close relationships with many other nations, the level of cooperation between them in economic activity, trade and commerce, military planning, execution of military operations, nuclear weapons technology, and intelligence sharing has been described as “unparalleled” among major powers.

The United Kingdom and the United States have been close allies in numerous military and political conflicts including World Wars I and II, the Korean War, the Cold War, the Gulf War and the War on Terror. It is like the armies of the Israel of God going to war to defend the Kingdom of God upon earth; they go as the armies of the Living God. In this context, the union of the brotherhood nations is timeless as will undoubtedly be proved again in the days ahead in the defence of humanity, civilization and freedom.

A Standard is Lifted in sight of the People

It is beyond question that the integrity of the United Kingdom and the great company of covenant nations in all their aspects have been undermined during the past six decades. What has happened by neglect and deliberate action is unacceptable and the voice of the People must now be heard. In the Western World we are a people in crisis, desperately looking for positive guidance and leadership that will lead us out of the deepening quagmire of destruction.

Is there a way out of the present impasse? What will change prevailing conditions and bring to the forefront leaders of spiritual stature and righteous convictions, joined by a people who are willing and ready to face every contingency that may suddenly confront us? The answer lies in the acknowledgement of our origin and destiny and, as a consequence, our responsibility as God's servant people. When we grasp this truth, we will be struck with the awe-inspiring fact that Divine Providence has intimately overshadowed our people in their continuing birthright development into a family of covenant nations.

When the knowledge of our origin causes us to become aware of our destiny as witnesses for God as His People, we will gain the spiritual strength that will enable us to overcome all obstacles in the way of the attainment of the goal set before us. When, finally, we are awakened to the full acceptance of our governmental responsibilities, the propensity to compromise and appease will give way to firm determination born of courage and confidence. This will enable our governing officials to implement to the fullest extent the establishment of justice, equity and peace within our national borders.

The British people are a 'company of nations' in the Western World from which a God-ordered civilization sprang. The flow of this many-branched river dried up with the onset of a false vision that we had 'lost an empire and had not yet found a role.' It is our assertion that the Kingdom of God upon earth is still Divinely-controlled and, under righteous rulers administering the affairs of state, the prophecy of Daniel will ultimately come fully to pass:

“And the kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey him” (Daniel 7:27).

It is our conviction as believers in the Kingdom teaching that the Christian Western World constitutes the literal descendants of both Houses of ancient Israel. Also, that the dogma of Replacement Theology – the claim that ‘the Church’ has replaced Israel as the Kingdom of God upon earth – is false, having emanated from Roman Catholic dogma.

There is also the position of the Jewish State of Israel which is at the centre of a growing storm. It bears none of the marks that could identify it as true Israel, that of being “a name and a praise among all people of the earth” (Zephaniah 3:20). Those Protestants who reject Replacement Theology yet see the Jewish State in Palestine as ‘Israel,’ a name meaning ‘ruling with God,’ are now caught between two untenable positions.

In view of the increasing turmoil in the Middle East and the wave of terror generated by the ‘unclean spirit’ of the so-called ‘Islamic State,’ plus the general worldwide unrest amid growing economic collapse, we consider it our duty to call upon the Protestant Church to awaken to the Israel Kingdom vision. It needs to find the prophetic vision and voice that has been missing since the end of World War II. The Church is the nation – for it is the Kingdom that is the greatest established order confirming the plan of God for the world. There is clear failure to provide the necessary guidance and leadership for our nation at this hour of great need. Thus do we say that the time is now when a Standard is lifted in the sight of the People, for as the prophet Isaiah declared:

“According to their deeds, accordingly he will repay, fury to his adversaries, recompence to his enemies; to the islands he will repay recompence. So shall they fear the name of the LORD from the west, and his glory from the rising of the sun. When the enemy shall come in like a flood, the Spirit of the LORD shall lift up a standard against him”

(Isaiah 59: 18-19).

Michael A Clark

2016

What David Cameron should demand from EU leaders

By Daniel Hannan, MEP

Donald Tusk

President of the European Council

Dear Donald,

I am hereby setting out the changes that Her Majesty's Government is intent on seeing in its relationship with the EU. Most Britons want a deal based on trade and co-operation, not political amalgamation.

You will know that several Euro-federalists also want such an arrangement. Jacques Delors says he wants Britain to have a "privileged partnership," by which he means membership of the common market but not of a United States of Europe. Guy Verhofstadt, the leader of the Euro-liberals, has called for the same thing, though he calls it "associate membership."

To make a reality of such a deal, there will need to be big changes to our membership terms, and I summarize these below.

1. Tax

Britain should have complete freedom to set its own tax rates, including in the fields of VAT and corporation tax.

2. Foreign Policy

We are the fifth largest economy in the world and the fourth military power. We can manage our foreign relations without needing to go through Commissioner Mogherini. We shall withdraw from the European External Action Service, the EU's diplomatic corps.

3. Trade

Britain is the only EU state that sells more outside the Union than to other members. As things stand, we can't sign bilateral trade deals with non-EU countries in the way that, say, Norway or Switzerland can.

We need to recover the right to sign commercial deals with growing economies such as India, China and Australia without being held back by the protectionism of some of our partners. We shall be resuming our right to speak and vote independently in the World Trade Organization.

4. Agriculture

We intend to replace the CAP with a British Agricultural Policy, tailored to suit the needs of our own farmers. As a net food importer with an efficient agricultural sector, we are badly hit by the current rules. Outside the CAP, we can give our farmers a more generous acreage-based grant while still making savings.

5. Fisheries

We mean to recover full control of our fishing grounds, out to 200 miles or the median line, as allowed by maritime law.

6. Citizenship

We shall opt out of the European Citizenship introduced by the Maastricht Treaty in 1993, though we are happy to have reciprocal arrangements on voting rights, social security claims and residence when agreed by Parliament. We shall also be dropping the trappings of European citizenship and restoring our blue passports.

7. Common Law

In 2009, I made the following promise: "We will prevent EU judges gaining steadily greater control over our criminal justice system by negotiating an arrangement which would protect it. That will mean limiting the European Court of Justice's jurisdiction over criminal law to its pre-Lisbon level, and ensuring that only British authorities can initiate criminal investigations in Britain."

I intend to keep that promise, and we shall accordingly withdraw from the European Arrest Warrant, as well as from the EU's prosecuting magistracy (Eurojust) and police force (Europol).

8. Social and employment policy

Likewise, I promised when I stood for my party leadership in 2005 to restore our independence in social policy and employment law, including in such fields as maximum working hours.

9. Borders

Free movement of labour is a basic treaty right, but that doesn't imply free access to benefits or permanent residency. We intend to impose a moratorium on welfare claims for new arrivals, and to end the institutionalized discrimination in migration policy against Commonwealth citizens.

10. Budget

The above reforms will, of course, mean that we have opted out of most non-economic aspects of the EU. I understand that this will mean a much-diminished role for our Commission officials and MEPs, whose voting rights and salaries should be reduced commensurately. By the same token, our budget contributions should fall to reflect this new, looser relationship.

11. Sovereignty

Finally, British law should be supreme on our own territory. EU legal acts should come into effect only following an implementing decision by our own Parliament. The Treaty of Rome, in other words, should bind us in the way that all other international treaties do, rather than providing for a superior legal order, directly binding through our courts.

I understand that, as in any negotiation, neither side will secure 100 per cent of its objectives. You will have your red lines, I mine. I should let you know now that the demands I regard as critical are 3, 9 and 11. If we can secure satisfaction on these items, I am hopeful that my countrymen will vote for the package in the forthcoming referendum.

Yours sincerely,

David Cameron

Titles available in this series:

Number One: Constitutional Illegality and the EU

Number Two: Britain's role and Destiny after the EU

Number Three: Britain's coming Freedom outside of the EU

Number Four: Royal Assent & our Laws and Customs

Number Five: 'The Bounds of their Habitation'

Number Six: The Covenant Nations – a Natural Union

Number Seven: The Many Nations of Israel

This series of booklets has been produced for free issue and they are not for re-sale. Further copies are available on request. Contributions towards postage and multiple copies are gratefully received for the campaign. Cheques to 'The Kingdom Foundation,' 121 Low Etherley, Bishop Auckland, Co Durham DL14 0HA.